

Myth or Reality: Suicide

Mark true or false according to what you believe about the following statements
	True	False
Asking a person to discuss his/her suicidal thoughts will likely cause an act of self-injury
Suicide is generally committed without warning
Suicide rates are generally higher in poor people
Membership in some religions protects against suicide more than membership in others
Suicide is not common in depressed people
A person with a terminal illness is not likely to commit suicide
A tendency to commit suicide is inherited
There is a low correlation between alcohol and/or drug use and suicide
Suicidal people clearly want to die
More females than males commit suicide
Suicide is influenced by cosmic factors such as sunspots and/or the phases of the moon
Severe mental illness is particularly associated with youth suicide
Improvement in mental state means lessened risk of suicide
The individual who talks about suicide will not kill him/herself
Suicide is an occasional phenomenon
It is not possible to save a person with suicidal tendencies. Sooner or later they will commit suicide
The cause/reason for suicide is always a traumatic event		